Benefiting the Military Working Dogs of the 366th Security Forces Squadron, Mountain Home AFB

The Military Working Dogs (MWD) of the 366th Security Forces Squadron secure Mountain Home AFB, deploy all over the world, and support the United States Secret Service (USSS) protecting VIP's. Though the Department of Defense provides initial funds for each dog, the remaining training and gear are up to the MWD section. The MWD's go through Dog Training School consisting of a basic obedience course, building search, scouting, and controlled aggression in addition to explosive and narcotic detection. MWD's and their Handlers undergo a specialized training program to prepare them for military service as a K9 team. Once certified they are ready to defend military installations across the globe as well as support the USSS. Utilizing the proceeds from race registration, the USAFA Idaho Parents Club will purchase training items and gear for the MWD's and t-shirts for the winning solo runner and relay team.
